Donald Sutherland and Leelee Sobieski star in "Uprising." The two-part TV movie about a group of Jews who fought back during the Holocaust airs at 8 p.m. Sunday and Monday on NBC.

'Uprising' tells saga of Warsaw

By Jacqueline Cutler

TVDATA FEATURES WRITER

These days, except for the news, there is little on television people need to watch. However, the new NBC movie "Uprising" is not to be missed.

Airing Sunday and Monday, Nov. 4 and 5, it tells the true story of how Warsaw Ghetto Jews fought the Nazis. With all the movies that have been made about World War II, it's hard to believe that this is the first time this story of bravery has been told on screen. But, even Jews who pride themselves on knowing their history often don't know much about this band of fighters.

"It fell into the category of one of those great lost stories," says Jon Avnet, director, co-writer and executive producer, who spent seven years working on the film.

"Only the Jews had been labeled as passive. No other group of victims of genocide was ever labeled as passive. Not the Rwandans or Cambodians. And that was why I thought this would be very interesting. It will, hopefully, stir a debate among historians about what really happened."

Prior to this project, actor Hank Azaria ("Tuesdays With Morrie"), who plays Mordechai Anielewicz, was no more familiar with the story than anyone else. "I just knew that it happened and I didn't know any details at all," he says.

The outstanding cast also includes Donald Sutherland, Leelee Sobieski, David Schwimmer, Jon Voight, Stephen Moyer, and Alexandra Holden.

The first wartime Veterans Day in decades includes a "JAG" marathon with David James Elliott and Catherine Bell at 9 a.m. Sunday on USA.

Programs honor veterans

By John Crook

TVDATA FEATURES WRITER

For the first time in several decades, Veterans Day dawns on America at war, a context that lends special resonance to much of the day's TV programming.

Around the channel spectrum, programmers observe the holiday with events ranging from a day of worthy documentaries on Discovery Channel to a new Veterans Day-themed episode of "Doc," the Billy Ray Cyrus medical drama on PAX. Also noteworthy is "We Stand Alone Together," a profile of the real-life WWII veterans of Easy Company, premiering Sunday, Nov. 11, on HBO.

The high-profile entries include two standouts: a day-long marathon of "JAG" episodes on USA Network and the Sunday premiere of "War Letters," a segment of "American Experience" on PBS, a simple yet profoundly affecting special adapted from Andrew Carroll's best-selling book of the same title.

USA's "JAG"-athon, of course, consists of favorite off-network episodes from the hit military drama's six-year run. It's a series that, for the most part, has flown under the radar of TV critics and Emmy voters, yet it has connected solidly with middle-American viewers, winning its time period on a consistent basis.

Current events make the prime-time Tuesday CBS episodes seem more pertinent and compelling than ever, although series creator and executive producer Donald Bellisario acknowledges that he and his writers are walking a fine line in light of ongoing military campaigns against world terrorism.

Macy's Parade continues tradition

By Jacqueline Cutler

TVDATA FEATURES WRITER

Ask different people about their favorite New Year or Labor Day traditions and expect a range of answers. However, ask most Americans about their favorite Thanksgiving traditions, and the answers likely will include family, football and the parade.

Though the "75th Anniversary Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade" will be broadcast on Thursday, Nov. 22, preparation began last year. NBC is the network home of the parade, but other stations broadcast feeds of the festivities.

Precisely a month before some 50 million viewers tune in a squadron of sculptors, painters and carpenters ply their trades in a former Tootsie Roll factory in Hoboken, N.J., just across the Hudson River from Manhattan. They refer to pictures as they painstakingly ensure the accurate re-creation of the tiniest details, such as the right number of eyelashes on a dragon.

Presiding over blueprints, models, power tools and everything else in this cavernous space is John T. Piper, Macy's vice president of annual events.

The parade will follow its usual route in Manhattan, starting at 77th Street and Central Park West, winding around Columbus Circle, and continuing down Broadway to Herald Square, home of Macy's flagship store.

There was never any consideration given to canceling the parade because of the terrorist attacks, Piper said.

'NYPD Blue' and Franz stay put

By Jay Bobbin

2001 Tribune Media Services

Since his police drama has ended up back on its traditional night, Dennis Franz isn't as blue as he might have been.

ABC had planned to relocate "NYPD Blue" to Wednesdays, where it would have faced off against another long-entrenched crime drama, NBC's "Law & Order." Instead, four-time Emmy winner Franz and his comrades remain on Tuesdays, but "NYPD Blue" will now be seen an hour earlier.

Franz, who has played police Detective Andy Sipowicz for the past eight years, says that being slotted opposite the similarly themed "Law & Order" would have been "unfair to our audience and to us. I don't think (the staff of that show) was very happy about it, either. It didn't make sense to take what are probably the two most popular New York cop shows and put them against each other. We know our audience is the same one "Law & Order" has, and we were going into that show's territory. They own Wednesday night, and they've proven it for many years, so for us to go in there would not be very enviable.

"Therefore, the move back to Tuesday is a relief, though that 9 o'clock slot is not a walk in the park, either. There's stiff competition there also."

Franz is referring to the positive advance reviews for the new Fox drama "24," which joined the Tuesday night lineup on Fox, as well as audience loyalty to NBC's "Frasier" and the strong early ratings for The WB Network's "Smallville." "There, at least, viewers have other options besides watching this cop show or that cop show," he reasons.
